Mr. Adrian A. Beecher

Dear Sir,

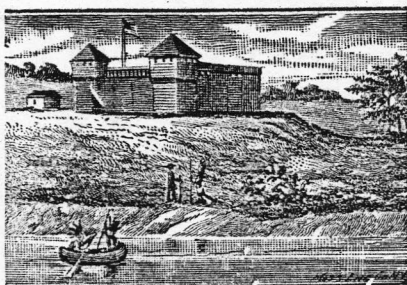

As, for sufficient reasons, you do not care to remain an active member of the Historical Society, we ^{you} will accept honorary membership and visit us when you care to. You and Mr. Markle were ^{its} ~~the~~ proponents and we would probably never have gotten started but for you.

Respectfully,

A growing concern

One Junior Achievement company literally has been planting the seeds of interest in America's economic future. Sam Wallace, Terre Haute South High School, and Bill Ray and Kathleen Ray, JA advisors, work in the Terre-green booth at the JA Trade Fair being conducted at Honey Creek Square. That company, sponsored by IMC Chemical, is a terrarium manufacturer. The company is one of 19 JA organizations displaying wares at the trade fair, which continues today.

Annual JA Fair continues today in Honey Creek Square mall

The 14th annual Junior Achievement of the Wabash Valley Trade Fair which opened Saturday completes its run at Honey Creek Square Mall with a display of products set from noon to 6 p.m.

The two-day event features 19 Junior Achievement companies taking part in National Junior Achievement Week designated from Jan. 20 to booth, best product, best sales pitch and selection of the Company of the Month winner for December. Announcement of the winners will take place at 4 p.m. today.

Companies participating, their sponsoring firms and products include: Amlaco, from Sullivan, sponsored by American Latex Company, sling shots; Anamade, and Mirkwood, sponsored by IBM, biorythms, etched glass and terrariums.

In addition, Pijaco, from Paris, Ill., sponsored by Illinois Cereal Mills and the Edgar County Bank, anodized aluminum coat hangers and ice grips; STP Unlimited, sponsored by Hercules, name plates; Summa, from Paris, sponsored by General

Our son's families live busy lives. They are glad that my hobby keeps me occupied. Steve was made V. P. in charge of Planning and Finance. John is on Ford's Engineering and Research Staff. Woodie does not share my enthusiasm for genealogy, but he is wonderfully tolerant.
 We send our love and hope you have a

Samuel E. Beecher ^{10/17/73}

REFERENCE
DO NOT CIRCULATE

The Vigo county bar and the city in general have lost a friendly and interesting figure in the passing of Samuel E. Beecher, Sr., former city judge and mayor. The designation "Smiling Sam" was merited, for he was nearly always in a good and genial humor.

Old timers in the city were not surprised by this, for his late father, Adrian, with whom he began the practice of law more than a half-century ago, was likewise a courteous and friendly figure in the Vigo court house, remembering the kindnesses of the court clerks with gracious thanks and occasional little gifts.

It was the friendly manner of Samuel E. Beecher Sr. as city judge that made him many friends, built a substantial law practice, and led to his election as mayor in 1935. When a vacancy came in the office of City Controller, he appointed his wife Katherine, to the office.

Following his service as mayor he ran for office several times. Several years ago, after announcing he would be a candidate for mayor, he went on a pleasure trip and, while visiting Panama as a tourist, decided not to run after all. Accordingly, he announced his change of mind in a postcard to the editor of The Terre Haute Star.

During his administration as mayor he built a new city hall and installed police radio, besides numerous other achievements.

Among his surviving children is Samuel E. Beecher, Jr., also a prominent member of the local bar.

Terre Haute will miss the friendly former mayor, who seemingly never lacked the ability to smile. The community's sympathy goes to his family in the loss of "Judge Sam."
